Samurai Sake Selections

Sake, pronounced “Sah-Keh”, NOT “Sah-kee” is in a class of it’s own. It is brewed like a beer AND fermented like a wine, yet is neither. It is NOT rice wine, it is simply SAKE. The categories below dictate the amount of milling a grain of rice experiences, hence changing the style of the resulting sake.

Junmai Daiginjo

These selections are made with rice that has been milled to at least 50% of it’s original size

Kubota Manju 1.8L	240
Kubota Hekiju 1.8L	190
Kubota Manju 720ML	130
Kubota Hekiju 720ML	100

Junmai Ginjo/Ginjo

These selections are made with rice that has been milled to at least 60% of it’s original size

Yoshinogawa “Gokujo” Ginjo 720ml	75
Momokawa USDA- Certified Organic Junmai Ginjo 300ml	17

Genshu (undiluted-cask strength)

Sake is the highest naturally fermented product in the world. Therefore, all sake is watered back. This process is similar to scotch EXCEPT that sake is fermented like wine, NOT distilled like a liquor.

G-Joy Junmai Ginjo Genshu 300ml	25
